The Civilian War.

By Cable and Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres announced that the government troops were defeated at Coquibio and Quillota. The insurgents forces are rapidly increasing in number, and, advancing upon the capital at Santiago. Only a few towns remain loyal. The destruction of the railway by the insurgents hampers the movement of the troops. President Balmaceda will be supported in the capital and is said to be hopeful on being able to repel the rebels. It is feared the effect of the rebellion will be disastrous to the finances and commerce of the country. During the battle at Tarapaca, 145 miles Southeast of Ilo, the mines were set on fire and afterwards flooded to extinguish the flames. The German miners fled into the interior. The coal depots at Coronel have been pillaged by the insurgent sailors to obtain coal for the rebel vessels.

Astor-Willing.

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—Miss Ava Lawie Willing, daughter of Edward S. Willing of this city, was married here to-day to John Jacob Astor, son of William Astor. The marriage took place at 1 o'clock at Mr. Willing's residence and only the immediate families of Astor and Miss Willing and a few intimate personal friends were present. Rev. Dr. McVicker, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Holy Trinity, performed the marriage ceremony, after which the party sat down to an elaborate breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Astor kept the direction of the bridal trip a secret, but it is understood they will leave to-night in a special car for St. Augustine.

Sara Bernhardt Poisoned.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Sara Bernhardt was poisoned Sunday by eating canned mushrooms for dinner at the Hoffman House. She was taken ill soon after and until midnight considerable anxiety was felt as to the result. All yesterday afternoon the actress was confined to her bed with physicians in constant attendance. Last night she appeared at the opening performance of Cleopatra, though still suffering from the effects of the attack. Dr. Gibier said all danger was averted and that there was no cause for further alarm.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—An indictment against George J. Gibson was returned by the Grand Jury this afternoon, charging him with having in his possession dynamite, nitro glycerine or gunpowder, for the purpose of doing bodily injury to H. H. Schufeldt and others. The bond is fixed at $25,000 and a capias was issued for Gibson's arrest. J. P. Hennessey of this city was elected Secretary of the Whisky Trust in place of Gibson, who resigned.

Congressional.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In pursuance to a designation by the speaker, the House was called to order by Parsons, of Illinois.

The Committee on Judiciary reported a resolution for the impeachment of Alex. Boardman, Judge of the United States District Court for the Western District of Louisiana, for high crimes and misdemeanors. Ordered printed and referred to committee. A bill forfeiting certain railroad land grants was reported from the Public Land Committee, but the House having refused to consider it, the bill was withdrawn.

The conference report on the Fortification Bill was agreed to and the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Indian appropriation bill.

The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was taken up. The pending question being Dolph's amendment to increase the salary of the Minister to Portugal from five thousand to ten thousand.

The Needham-Ryan Fight.

By Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—There is some question now as to whether the Needham-Ryan fight will take place, as Needham's right hand is in a bad shape. He insists on wearing strips of plaster which are entirely at variance with the rules which govern the fight. There are numerous precedents in the matter at issue, the most notable being, some two years back when Jack McAuliffe entered the ring at North Judson and faced Billy Myer with his hands plastered, the referee at once ordered the plasters removed, and they came off, despite the remonstrances of Billy Madden, McAuliffe's trainer, and his seconds. It is understood that the Twin City Athletic Club, whose boxing instructor Needham is, sustains their man in wearing the prohibited plasters, while the Chicago backers of Ryan demand their removal, and say the fight shall not take place under the circumstances. Possibly the matter may be bridged over.

Flood at Pittsburgh.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.—At 11 o'clock this morning both rivers were 26 feet above low water, and rising at the rate of seven inches an hour. All the morning families have been moving from houses in the lower part of Allegheny. Travel on the Pittsburg and Western railroads in this city is stopped, while many mills along the river are forced to close. Reports from headquarters show a steady rain with the rivers still rising and the lower towns flooded. Bridges are carried away in every direction, and the loss is great.

The newspaper is charged with printing a letter written by King, in which it is charged that Donnelly received a large sum of money for his vote and influence, both in the United States Congress and in the Minnesota Legislature, between the years 1870 and 1880.

By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Parnell and McCarthyite members held a meeting to-day. At the meeting the Parliament's resolution was adopted, stating that in the negotiations between Parnell and O'Brien, with a view to settle the existing dispute, the course of the former merited continued confidence of the Irish as capable of guarding the interests and honor of the Irish nation and of conducting the Nationalist cause to final triumph.

Nicaragua Gold Excitement.

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17.—Frank Von Phil, formerly of New Orleans, but now of Greytown, Nicaragua, arrived on the steamship Mongah last night. He said the sensation in Nicaragua at present is the success of several gold mines. In Principalca he said he saw chunks of gold as large as his finger. He is positive the Aztecs obtained their gold from these mines, especially as stone hatchets and stone basins were found.

DEATH VALLEY.

Eight Crops of Alfalfa Produced in a Year.

By Associated Press.

THE CHLORIDE BELT says: "Death Valley is a desert, but it is not as desolate a place as it is represented to be," remarked C. B. Zabriskie, Superintendent of the Pacific Borax Company, yesterday. "Our company has a ranch in alfalfa. It is called the Furnace Creek Ranch, after the creek from which the water is taken. The water is conveyed a distance of seven miles in pipes, and the supply is just sufficient to irrigate the alfalfa. Last year eight crops were raised upon this land, good heat-tempered too. Do you know of any section where they can beat that?" And the scribe admitted that he did not.

For this purpose they set apart to-day and to-morrow, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 4 o'clock P. M. The regular military guard remains on duty in the front hall, while the special squad of police keeps the people in line. The cast of the face of General Sherman, which has been taken, is a pronounced success.

Admiral Porter at Rest.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—With martial honors and with all the ceremony due his high rank, the body of the late David D. Porter, Admiral of the Navy, was this afternoon laid to rest in Arlington. Not since the burial of Sherman has Washington witnessed as imposing a funeral, every branch of the military and naval service being represented. The Grand Army of the Republic and the Sons of the American Revolution occupied prominent places in the long procession. All the Executive departments closed and everywhere throughout the city flags were displayed at half mast. The body of the late Admiral lay in state at the family residence all the forenoon, and was viewed by a constant stream of people. The remains were dressed in full uniform, encased in a casket covered with purple velvet lined with white satin and having heavy silver handles, and the plate appropriately inscribed. At 1 o'clock the house closed to visitors, and Mrs. Porter and members of the family took their last farewell of the dead. The casket was closed immediately thereafter, a large flag was wrapped around it and the Admiral's sword and chapman were placed on the lid. Services were held at the house and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Douglas, rector of St. John's. Occupying chairs on either side of the casket were members of the family, the President and Mrs. Harrison, members of the Cabinet, Justices of the Supreme Court, members of the Diplomatic corps and honorary pall-bearers; while behind them stood a throng of army and navy officers, and many leading citizens of Washington. After the services the casket was deposited in the hearse, and the procession moved toward Arlington Cemetery.

Honolulu News.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—The steamship Australia arrived from Honolulu to-day. The Hawaiians were employed, when the steamer left, in making final preparations for the burial of King Kalakaua on the 15th instant. Meetings of the Chamber of Commerce, and other bodies, as well as of the citizens, had been held, and resolutions expressive of the feeling of the people at the loss of their sovereign, had been passed. The resolutions, and the public press, express gratitude to the people of the United States for the care taken of the King in his final illness, and the sympathy tendered to the Hawaiians on the occasion of his death. Nothing is said by the papers regarding the Queen Liliokaua's death, but alarm is expressed at the rate of mortality among the native Hawaiians, as shown by the monthly reports.

For January there were fifty-six deaths in Honolulu, and of these forty-two were Hawaiians. These figures, it is stated, fall below the records for some other months.

Two German men-of-war are expected at Honolulu shortly on a cruise from Samoa.

Swedish Ladies.

The concerts given by the above company of ladies have been highly commended wherever they have appeared, and will without doubt, be a musical treat that all should hear. They will appear at the Opera House on Thursday evening, February 19th. Secure your seats at Hodges.

Proof of Merit.

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonies of those who have used Allcock's Porous Plasters for the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self-praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are.

The State of Nevada and Silver Production.

If the people of the State of Nevada will inquire what the silver mines of that State have done in the way of permanent improvement in the direction of establishing a commonwealth, whose foundations are laid in some enduring industry, they will find that silver has done nothing for them whatever. The millions of dollars' worth of silver bullion produced in that State have simply left it, and left it poorer than it was in the beginning. Silver production in Nevada has built many splendid business blocks in the City of San Francisco; has created a few aristocratic millionaires who have resided in California or in Europe. The wealth taken from the mines of Nevada has not contributed to the construction of even a village, founded upon permanent industries which would support a block in any respectable city. The natural resources of the State of Nevada far surpass those of Utah. There is vastly more irrigable land in that State than in the Territory of Utah, and yet the latter Territory has one prosperous, permanently established city of 50,000 inhabitants, not dependent upon ephemeral silver mining, another of fifteen and several of five thousand. The permanent record made by silver mining in the State of Nevada is found in the numerous holes and tunnels in Mount Davidson and other portions of the State.

The silver has been taken away to enrich other communities, and the millionaires made by its discovery and the owners of the mines have gone with the silver. They have not had the grace to leave behind them even the valueless monument of a deserted private mansion. The State of Nevada has produced hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of metal. All she has to show for it are the holes in the ground, from which the metal was taken. She has been robbed of her mineral wealth by men who spent, or are spending, their fortunes in other countries. There is nowhere within her borders an institution of learning, the bequest of any millionaire, made such by her mines. There is not an art gallery, a library, a piece of statuary, or a single vestige of any other form, in which gratitude to a commonwealth is sometimes expressed. The inexhaustible resources of her soil have been neglected. Her other sources of wealth remain undiscovered. The capital her mines created has turned its back upon her in cold ingratitude and has left her a suppliant to capital not created within her borders to come in and do for her what should have been done by the men who became rich at the expense of her impoverishment.

The above editorial is from the Sacramento Record-Union, and so far as it goes is truthful in every particular, and yet these shysters who have grown rich and are accumulating more wealth daily and spending it in other climes, say, if a newspaper happen to call attention to the subject, that it is an enemy of the State, and try to break the force of the argument by every method, both fair and foul, at their command. The Gazette has called attention to this fact many times, and every time it has been asked the question: What do you want to agitate this subject for? The men who have accumulated wealth in this State and have been called to the other side of the river have not even left their bones to enrich the soil, and not a monument even has ever been erected in Nevada to show that they ever lived. Still the people will quietly submit to this gross injustice of having the wealth of the State carted away without a murmur. They will allow the Legislature to be hoodwinked and led blindly into the vortex of the "mining industry" without any thought of what can be done to build up the agricultural interest and make us great and prosperous.

WHEN a Legislature in one of the States east recently, under the prodding of a Farmers' Alliance, passed a bill making the use of passes bribery, the members began to feel in their pockets, and as a natural result the bill did not become a law.

In discussing the Constitutional Convention question, the Journal comes to the back door with this complaint:

"We do not charge any Senator with willful misstatement, as his information might have been at fault, but it is certain that the statement regarding the Lincoln ballots is untrue as is many others in the same connection. The men who are fighting the constitutional question have been either woefully misinformed or are making an unfair fight and making it designedly. The people want a new Constitution, and if the Republicans, with a majority in both houses, do not take the wishes of their constituents into consideration, the party will have its hands full next election keeping old Republicans in line."

We ask in all candor what the Democrats propose to do about it? Every leading Democrat and the Democratic press of the State had as much to do with the murder of the question as the Republicans did. It is very poor taste for the Democratic press of the State to drag the question into politics by the hair of the head. They are all blackened from soot off the same kettle, so what is the use of talking? Nearly the entire press of the State, outside of the Virginia Chronicle, don't dare to speak above a whisper for fear they will lose a four-bit ad or a $6 subscriber.

A MAJORITY of the railroad companies of the country are doing away with the old system of advertising by means of posters, cards and other such means, and are advertising more heavily in newspapers than ever before. Several companies have tried the experiment, and are well satisfied with the results of newspaper advertising. Several of the large railroad corporations of the country will confine their advertising business for the present year to newspapers.

A BILL in the Missouri Legislature attempts to regulate some affairs for doctors, and not exactly at their instance. It proposes to fix $1 as the maximum for each professional visit. If the bill passes it would not be prudent for those who vote for it to employ the doctors.

DUTCH DIAMONDS.

The Influence Upon the Industry of a Reduction in Prices.

Last year was a very serious one for the Dutch diamond industry, says the London Times, which was nearly paralyzed by the action of the De Beers Company, of Kimberley, in reducing the production of the raw diamond from four million to two million carats per annum in order to keep up prices. The price of raw diamonds rose more than one hundred per cent. at the mines, and it proved impossible to obtain a proportionate advance for the cut article. This state of things, says the British Consul at Amsterdam in his last report, coming on top of too great an inflation in the cutting industry in Amsterdam, created the greatest distress among the diamond workers, who, as a class, have the reputation of being very thrifless. For several months at the close of the year orders for cut diamonds were altogether wanting, and not only were a great number of families reduced to absolute destitution, but most of the new cutting mills, which have been erected of late, were closed and will probably have to be devoted to other purposes. Since the close of the year the position of the diamond works rather improved. The price of cut diamonds has risen so far as to give some margin for the cost of cutting, etc., but the demand is by no means sufficient to keep the mills and diamond workers of the city employed. A good deal of cutting is now done there for London account direct.

Franklin and the French. By his manners and ways of life he became the most popular man in France, so that when he gained his presentation to the King his future was assured. As he passed through the streets of Paris he was followed by admiring eyes and cheered loudly by enthusiastic voices, says the Century. A contemporary writes: "A friend of mine paid something for a place at a two-pair-of-stairs window to see him pass by in his coach, but the crowd was so great that he could but barely say he saw him. He was the Frenchman's embodiment of the ideal citizen, republican, philosopher and friend. He completely captivated and captured the people of France, whom he perfectly understood, and he well knew that a popular man becomes soon more powerful than power itself." Condorcet said: "It was an honor to have seen him. People repeated what they had heard him say. Every fete which he consented to receive, every house where he consented to go, spread in society new admirers, who became so many partisans of the American revolution."

BURDETTE'S PHILOSOPHY.

He Reveals the Secret of Preserving Perpetual Youth.

Robert J. Burdette is a sunny and wholesome philosopher, in whose humor there is no lurking asp. In the Ladies' Home Journal he takes up the role of Solomon about where Solomon left off in Ecclesiastes, and tells us how to live, so that when we are old all will not be vanity and vexation of spirit. But listen to the preacher.

"Some people carefully disguise the fact that they are growing old, but a coat of paint on an old house merely makes it look smart; it doesn't keep the rickety old stairway from cracking, and it won't straighten up the window frame that's gone a little askew as the house settles. You can—or at least the man from whom I bought my last horse can—fix up an old horse of seventeen years to look like a frisky colt of three or four, and to act it, too, for about fifteen minutes. But it won't last. There are times when a woman who is walking along that pleasant decade of her pilgrimage between the fortieth and fiftieth milestones, feels inspired to run, and leap, and dance, and sing, and renew her youth in various ways, but the spirit is evanescent, and the fashion of it passes away, and she sayeth of laughter, It is mad; and of mirth, What doth it?" And she looketh upon the men singers and the women singers, and the delights of the sons of men, and behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit, and there is no profit to her in that sort of thing."

"But," says you, "can not one be young hearted after forty?" Yea, beloved, after sixty or seventy. Down to the days of white-haired old age the heart may glow with tenderness, and the quiet warmth of the June sunshine of years ago stored away in its chambers as ages ago the sun stored its heat and light away in the forest of the earth, to dance and gleam and glow in merriment and summer warmth upon the coal-fed hearths to-day. For this reason, O my young readers, rejoice in the days of your youth, when the light is sweet and it is a pleasant thing for the eyes to behold the sun; let your hearts cheer for you in these days of sunshine and nights of starlight, and 'remove anger from thy heart, and put away evil from thy flesh,' remembering 'the days of darkness, for they shall be many.' And the freight that will come to glow upon the heart and dance in warmth and tenderness upon the walls of your heart's chambers in those days will be the light you are storing away now. Be happy and light hearted, then; but be the house of your mirth as pure as a temple, and your laughter sinless as the songs of birds; in all your mirth and dancing exalt wisdom; and, indeed, she shall bring thee to honor and give to thine head an ornament of grace; then shall the years of thy life be many and the heart be ever young."

A GEM CALENDAR.

... men to Give Away Precious Stones and What They Signify.

From time immemorial, says the Philadelphia gemmists, all sorts have had their mystic significance and their appropriate times and seasons for adoration and presentation. The breastplate of the Jewish high priest had its oracular gems, which were called the "urim and thummim." The enchanter, Appollonius Tyanaeus, wore special rings for magical purposes, with appropriate gems for each day of the week in order to command the particular spirit for each day.

The Hermetic brethren had certain rules in relation to the power of precious stones to bring good or evil fortune through the planetary affinity of certain days. They imagined that certain gems were produced through the operation of the planets working secretly in the telluric body. They apportioned the stones for each day as follows:

Sunday is devoted to all yellow gems, like the topaz, in order to draw down positive influences and avert the antagonistic efforts of the spirits through its ruler and name-giver—the sun.

Monday, pearls and white stones, not diamonds, should be worn or presented, because this is the moon day.

Tuesday, the day of Mars, suggests rubies and all stones of a fiery luster.

Wednesday is the day for turquoises, sapphires and all precious stones which reflect the blue vault of heaven.

Thursday, being the day of Thor, or divine sacrifice, demands amethysts and all deep-colored and sanguine-tinted stones.

Friday, the day of Venus, has its appropriate emeralds, and reigns over all the varieties of the imperial, yet sinister color—green.

A Graveyard Rabbit.

There is an old graveyard in Clarke County, Georgia, which is held in superstition by the neighborhood. One story about it is that a rabbit has taken up its home there and burrows in a sunken grave. The boards covering the vault have rotted, leaving a cavern extending into the coffin itself. For a long time a rabbit has used the den as a lair and can be seen at almost any hour entering or leaving the cavern. Time and again the hunters have sought to kill this particular rabbit, but it is like firing at a sun ray. The little quadruped seems quite tame and will invite a near approach of the sportsman, but upon the discharge of his gun Br'er Rabbit bounds off unharmed. And no dog, either, can be found to chase the rabbit any distance. They will run it a few yards and then return to their owners with a mystified look and their tails dangling between their legs.

Hard on the Ducks.

A singular story comes from Greenpoint, N. Y. A large mansion in the vicinity took fire, which originated in the main chimney, and the flames were spreading rapidly. A young man ran to the duck pen and secured a number of the largest fowls. Then he took a ladder, and mounting to the top of the house went to the chimney, from which flames and smoke were pouring, and dropped the ducks one after another into the fiery shaft. This had the effect of checking the flames and the fire was subdued.
